About Us

Born from local vision and industrial need, Envirodet is a proudly South African manufacturer of high-performance cleaning detergents designed for homes, businesses, and industries. Established through the support of industry leading organizations, Envirodet represents the power of partnership — where enterprise development meets sustainable innovation.

From kitchens to factory floors, our products are engineered to clean deeply, kill germs effectively, and protect what matters most. Every Envirodet formula combines science, strength, and sustainability, delivering results that customers can trust while reducing environmental impact.

At Envirodet, we don't just make detergents — we build cleaning confidence. Our range is designed to perform in real-world conditions, providing households and businesses with reliable, eco-conscious solutions that deliver measurable results.

Proudly manufactured in South Africa, we're committed to supporting local jobs, skills development, and supply chains, while delivering world-class quality at locally competitive prices. For us, cleaning shouldn't come at the cost of the planet — it should help protect it.
